DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
2. Claims 15-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. Claims 15-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: a second type medical item. The claims cite a third type medical item without reference to a second type.
4. Claims 18 and 19 both cite DEA Form 222. This form is based on a standard that is subject to change over time, and therefore renders the claims indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Colella et al. Colella et al disclose a method comprising storing a plurality of medical items in a plurality of storage locations within a pharmacy (see col. 3, lines 21-28); storing data in a data store corresponding to the medical items (see col. 3, lines 21-54); providing input indicative of taking a first quantity of a first type of medical item from a first storage location for use in second location outside of the pharmacy (see col. 3, lines 21-54); and providing input indicative of the use of a second quantity of the items at the second location (see col. 4, lines 1-26). Colella et al do not teach the steps of comparing the inputs and outputting a difference. However, it is common in the tracking industry to compare the quantities sent and received to prevent loss.

Colella et al do not teach that the items are used in a compounding activity or are wasted, nor does Colella teach that items are borrowed or loaned. However, such activities are common in the art, and it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ the teachings of Colella et al to track medical items in such activities to prevent loss.

Art Unit: 3627

Colella et al do not teach the use of DEA Form 222. However, such a form is standard in the art, and it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ the step of generating a DEA Form 222 to comply with all regulations.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Conway, Cunningham, Lester et al, and Roden et al teach methods for tracking medical items.
